

Week of Honour and Remembrance

As the calendar turns to this sacred time, we pause to hold the memory and the living spirit of service close to our hearts. This is not just a week of dates, but a profound period of gratitude—a time to remember the generations who answered the call, from the trenches of distant wars to the quiet vigilance of peace operations around the globe.

We remember the courage that gripped a hand on a rifle, the selfless spirit that chose duty over ease, and the sacrifice that etched itself onto families and futures. Their actions forged the very ground we walk on: a nation free, a country strong, and a democracy preserved.

To our Veterans—those who have served, those who still serve, and those who gave their all—we offer our deepest, most heartfelt thanks. Your legacy is woven into the maple leaf, and your stories are the bedrock of our Canadian soul.

Let us carry your memory and your lessons throughout this week and beyond. Lest We Forget.
